ANGLERS' DEAN DIES; CREMATED SAME DAY

Kit Clarke, Who Knew No Illness for 84 Years, Was Hit by Automobile.

WANTED QUICK FUNERAL

Noted Fisherman and Show Publicity Agent Constant as a Pedestrian.

Kit Clarke, dean of anglers, $4 years old, died Thursday in his home, 608 East Seventy-fifth street, Flatbush, and in accordance with his wishes, was cremated the same day. In his lifetime he often had remarked he "wanted no fuss" made over him. He had never been seriously ill or needed the services of a doctor until recently, when he was knocked down by an automobile while crossing Nassau street. That was the beginning of complications that finally caused his death. His mother lived to be 90 years old and "my death will be like hers." he once remarked; "the machinery will simply run down." It was Kit Carson of Western days that gave Birket Clarke his sobriquet o
